DETAILED ACTION

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims 1-38 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Kuffner et al (5486836).

Regarding Claims 1-38, Kuffner et al show a spatial diversity antenna system with a plurality of antennas 302,204 in Figs. 1-4 (or those in Figs. 5 and 6), which are switchable between antenna configurations via switch 306, etc., being distinguished by a set of radiation parameters, and particularly with respect to the radio's position, orientation and the signal strength of the energy received thereby, and all arranged as claimed. The communications device in Fig. 9 is shown in the transmit position where the device contains patches 904 and 906. The pocket position is effected by folding the patch 906 into the keypad position/area. The built-in sensor is connected to the switches 908,910 to provide a system with increased receiver gain and transmit gain. The patches provide different feed connections as claimed. The switches are deemed to be those as claimed, e.g., in Claim 20.
